The Volunteer Theale

The Volunteer in Theale, known locally as 'The Volly' has been run by Alan & Shelley for the past 14 years.

It is a friendly village pub that has a bit of everything. A large, colourful beer garden, off the road to enjoy a few beers on a nice day or balmy evening, yet a large open log fire to warm up a dreary winter's night. A fairly quiet area to dine in or have a quiet drink and yet at the other end a large plasma TV with Sky Sports and Premiership Plus, where all the games are shown.

Whilst recently recarpeted it still maintains the old flag stones in the middle. The Volly also has a Victorian style covered veranda attached to the rear, which is heated when necessary and will surely prove invaluable when next year's smoking ban comes into action.

The Volly serves Fullers beers and a selection of fine wines, as well as everything else you would expect from a well-run establishment.

Food is served all day, every day from noon till 9pm, with the exception of Sunday when a full menu and Sunday lunch are served from noon till 4.

There is a varied menu of very good pub grub including homemade curries, chilli, Cajun chicken and more. There are also chargrilled steaks and different home made specials of the week, vegetarian options and a selection of pubs, also if there is something that you require that is not on the menu, if they can do it for you they will.

Whilst The Volly is open every day it now closes on Sunday nights at 7pm, this has enabled the pub to be available for private functions from 8pm till midnight, phone for details.

Why not drop in and see for yourself and meet Alan, Shelley or Tia the bar manager and the rest of the team.
